Definition of common terms

Below is a list of common terms used to explain the internship process in the Communications Media department.

1. Internship Coordinator – The Internship Coordinator is a member of the Communications Media Department faculty who assists you with your internship paper work. This individual is the point of contact for all questions regarding your internship and the individual who will coordinate application submission and communicate all registration information concerning your internship course and placement. The internship coordinator is also responsible for all affiliation agreements. The internship coordinator assigns interns to specific faculty members based on geography and departmental policies.
2. Internship Application – This is a CONTRACT; where you enter into a formal and binding agreement. This is a document you electronically sign declaring the internship site where you will be working. You will identify your Internship Site Supervisor and provide appropriate contact information and work schedule. Once you have electronically signed this contract and submitted it, it cannot be changed. You cannot change internship sites after this point unless the internship has been canceled by the internship site. The internship coordinator or faculty supervisor will verify any canceled internships with the internship site. (Page 13)
3. Affiliation Agreement – This agreement is a contract between IUP and an entity offering an internship. It outlines duties and responsibilities of both the organization and the University as it pertains to appointing an IUP student as an intern. This is NOT a document students complete or have signed but the internship site. Your responsibility is to simply inform the internship coordinator if your internship site is on the list of existing agreements or if they are not yet on the affiliated list of sites. These are a requirement of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education and are not optional. You are not permitted to complete an internship at a site without that site having a valid affiliation agreement on file with the university. Approval of affiliation agreements is a process that requires several signatures, therefore it is imperative that students communicate the need for an affiliation agreement to the internship coordinator as promptly as possible. (Example Page 19)
4. Internship Site – This is the physical site where you will do your internship work. Your internship site is responsible for providing you a work space during your internship. The internship site must have a street address (not a PO Box) and must identify the location where you will be working during your internship. The Department of Communications Media will not approve “virtual internships”.
5. Internship Site Supervisor – This is the person who is directly responsible for managing your time at your internship site. This is essentially your employer during the internship. The Internship Site Supervisor is someone who has the expertise to teach you new skills and provide you with experience to meet your internship goals. The Internship Site Supervisor is responsible for completing the Internship Performance Review for your midterm and final evaluation. The Internship Site Supervisor is responsible for meeting with the Faculty Supervisor during the site visit.
6. Faculty Supervisor – This is a member of the Department of Communications Media faculty who will evaluate your internship experience and assign the appropriate grade. Your Faculty Supervisor will provide you with a course syllabus for COMM 493 Internship, along with his or her requirements for your communication responsibilities, internship project, deadlines and other documentation. As with any course taught by different instructors, your Faculty Supervisor's instructions to you may be different than instructions given to students being supervised by other faculty. Follow the instructions given to you by the faculty member who is designated as your Faculty Supervisor. Your Faculty Supervisor is the person you will contact with any questions about your internship responsibilities or to report any issues with your internship. You do not get to select your Faculty Supervisor.

7. Faculty Supervisor Site Visit – Each intern will be visited by their Faculty Supervisor at least once during the period of his or her internship. To the degree possible, these visits will be done in person. In circumstances where it is not possible to visit the intern in person, the Faculty Supervisor may conduct this visit on Skype or by some other virtual means. The visit will include a private conversation with the Internship Site Supervisor. The intern is responsible for coordinating this visit with the Internship Site Supervisor and being aware of any requirements the Faculty Supervisor has for this visit.
8. Final Internship Project – All Communications Media interns are required to complete a Final Internship Project that will include, at minimum, daily logs documenting your work hours, a description of your internship duties and evidence of your internship work that is appropriate for inclusion in your career portfolio. Specific requirements for your internship project will be in the syllabus for COMM 493, provided by your Faculty Supervisor.
9. Internship Daily Log – This is a form you complete to document your work hours and verify that you have worked the appropriate number of hours for the credits you are receiving. You will keep one log per day and document your total internship work hours completed at the end of each day. (Page 33)
10. Internship Performance Review – This is an evaluation form completed by your Internship Site Supervisor. Your Internship Site Supervisor will complete a mid-term and final evaluation of your performance on the internship. You are responsible for providing the evaluation form to your Internship Site Supervisor and seeing that it is returned to your Faculty Supervisor by the appropriate deadlines. This Performance Review is part of your internship grade and you will not receive a grade until both the midterm and final reviews have been submitted to your Faculty Supervisor. (Page 34)

Internship Overview

The Internship Program

Communications Media students often find their internship experience is one of the most important parts of their IUP education. This is a required part of your Bachelor of Science Degree in Communications Media.

An internship is an opportunity for juniors and seniors to work in their field of choice while receiving university credit. Students receive nine credits for completing 360 work hours on a summer internship. These hours are typically earned by working full time, 40 hours per week for nine weeks, however hours can be spread over a longer period of time with a shorter work week. Students may either find their own internship site or choose from many resources identified by the department.

Students begin their internship search and application process in the spring semester immediately preceding their planned summer internship. Prior to registering for a summer internship, all students must complete COMM 395 Career Planning and have a 2.0 overall GPA.

Internship Sites

Communications Media students find internships at radio and TV stations, sports teams, magazines, graphic design firms, promotion agencies, private corporations, nonprofit organizations, hospitals, and many more sites. Students typically intern in Pennsylvania, New York, and the Washington, D.C. area.

Some of our many internships sites include:

- Altoona Curve
- American Heart Association
- Broad Street Music Group
- CBS Radio - Pittsburgh
- Center City Film and Video
- Elias Savion
- Gatesman & Dave
- iHeartMedia, Inc.
- Jenna Communications
- Make-a-Wish Foundation
- Renda Broadcasting
- Root Sports
- Vinegar Hill Creative
- Washington Wild Things
- WAMO
- WJAC-TV
- WQED
- WTAE-TV

IUP's Center for Media Production and Research (CMPR) offers on-campus summer internships. Interns work with real clients and gain real-world experience. Students broaden their production and promotions skills while networking with many different professionals. On-campus internships are also frequently available through IUP-TV and WIUP-FM.

The Washington Center (twc.org), located in Washington, D.C., offers internships that are integrated academic and work experiences in government, corporate, and nonprofit organizations. TWC interns participate in academic seminars featuring speakers who are leaders in government, media, and the D.C. community. Scholarships and tuition assistance are frequently available. Typically, students who are Pennsylvania residents receive a full tuition remission for their TWC internship and pay only for their summer housing at one of the TWC housing locations. TWC internships are coordinated with the assistance of IUP's Career and Professional Development Center. More information and deadlines are available at <http://www.iup.edu/career/internships/washington-center-for-internships-and-academic-seminars/>

IUP Communications Media students have interned through TWC at organizations such as:

- Voice of America
- Smithsonian Museums of Asian Art
- Public Broadcasting System
- National PTA
- Bravo! Events by Design
- American Association of State Colleges and Universities
- RedEye Professional Post
- Double R Productions
- Cumulus Media

The Internship Course: Communications Media 493

COMM 493 is a class with different faculty instructors. Each faculty member will provide a syllabus to his or her summer interns that will include due dates, requirements for communication, requirements for the final internship project and other pertinent class related information. Different faculty may have different expectations for their students. Follow the guidelines established by your faculty internship supervisor.

Prerequisites: COMM 395, 2.0 overall GPA and department approval

I. Course Description: Supervised professional summer work experience in communications media. Internship sites reflect the academic goals of the department and are approved and administered by a department coordinator. Location, duties, length of internship, and hours are tailored to students' career goals. Sites represent a broad spectrum of communications and media in business, education, allied health, or other agencies. Students must complete 360 hours of internship work experience and a culminating internship project. A maximum of 15 credits of internship and/or practicum are permitted toward a degree program. Students whose internship responsibilities include regular contact with minors are required to take the Protection of Minors Training. All internship sites are required to be compliant with University internship policies and requirements.

II. Course Objectives

Each student will define his or her own objectives for the internship experience while taking COMM 395 (Career Planning in Communications Media). These objectives will reflect the learning experience the student hopes to obtain through the internship. These will be refined by the hosting site (during interviews), and accepted by the department internship coordinator. This document, called the internship proposal, is included with the internship contract and other documents submitted to the Communications Media internship coordinator.

The Department of Communications Media course objectives for COMM 493 are:

At the conclusion of the internship experience, the student will:

- gain experience in a professional work setting consistent with the student's career goals;
- develop an understanding of the work environment and use this understanding to refine career goals;
- acquire skills, knowledge, and experience in areas specific to the internship setting;
- participate in projects and compile materials suitable for inclusion in a final project and professional portfolio;
- submit a culminating final internship project that includes an analysis of the internship experience and submission of an internship portfolio demonstrating the accomplishment of the student's internship objectives;
- use newly developed skills to conduct a job search in this or a related field; and
- use the internship site to develop professional contacts and refine interpersonal skills.

Internship Requirements and Policies

There are various requirements when looking for and securing an internship experience. Below is a list of important responsibilities to remember when you are searching for an internship.

Selecting an Internship

1. Select an internship site that meets your academic and professional goals. Look for sites that will help you build your skills, provide you opportunities for networking, and potentially a first job.
2. Search for internships on web sites of companies where you would like to work. Use common search engines such as Career Builder and Indeed. When completing online applications, follow each application's instructions carefully. Remember to note the internship requirements, time, location, and materials required carefully.
3. In identifying potential internship sites, the following Department of Communications Media policies will apply:
 - a. Virtual internships – those internships without a physical work site – are not permitted for COMM 493 credit.
 - b. The internship site/host must provide a physical workspace for interns at the internship site's physical location.
 - c. The internship site must provide an on-site supervisor who has face-to-face contact with the intern at least once per week.
 - d. The internship site supervisor must be a professional in his or her field; that is the site supervisor must be able to teach the intern about a facet of the communications field in which they are proficient.
 - e. The student intern's immediate family members are not permitted to act as site supervisors or complete evaluations of the intern.
4. To receive 9-credits, the intern must log 360 hours of internship work. Make sure your potential internship organization is able to provide an experience that permits you to complete the required hours. Up to 40 of those hours may come from work on COMM 493 course assignments, with permission from your site supervisor and faculty supervisor.
5. If it is your intention to graduate in August, after the completion of your internship, it is important that your internship hours can be completed in time for your final grade to be submitted to clear you for August graduation.
6. While the University encourages an internship experience within a 500-mile radius of IUP, the Communications Media Department has no restrictions on location. Therefore, students are free to seek an internship at any location within the United States of America. All internship sites are subject to appropriate vetting by the internship coordinator and department staff. Internships are not permitted on soil outside of the United States of America.
7. All internship sites must sign an affiliation agreement with IUP, reside in a state that permits interns from Pennsylvania universities, and be willing to verify that the intern will be supervised by an expert whose content specialty matches the skills being sought by the intern.
 - a. Some states have restrictions on certain internships. Please check with the internship coordinator if you are interested in an internship outside of PA.

- b. Students will be provided with a list of internship sites that have previously signed affiliation agreements. These sites are approved and if you intern at one of these sites, they do not need to sign an additional affiliation agreement.

Identifying your Internship

1. Once you have identified and confirmed your internship, you will ask an authorized member of the internship site to complete the Internship Site Offer form. They will return the form to you. You will scan the form into a PDF document and then submit it on the Application page of iblog.iup.edu/comminterns.
2. You will then complete the internship application located on the application page of iblog.iup.edu/comminterns by established deadlines. See the calendar on iblog.iup.edu/comminterns.
3. Once you have electronically signed and submitted the internship application, no further changes can be made. You cannot change internship sites after this point unless the site cancels your internship.
4. You must also submit current Title IX and Child Protection training certificates which must be earned within 9 months of starting the internship. These certificates are submitted on the application page of iblog.iup.edu/comminterns.

Registering for an Internship

1. All students must successfully complete COMM 395 Career Planning prior to their internship experience. All students enrolled in the internship course must be either a COMM major or COMM minor.
2. The internship is not a capstone course and may be taken the summer of your junior year. You are not required to complete COMM 475 Senior Portfolio Presentation to be able to do an internship. COMM 475 is required to graduate with your Bachelor of Science in Communications Media but not required prior to taking COMM 493.
3. COMM 493 Internship is a 9-credit course, which requires the appropriate tuition payment of approximately $3000 (as of 2017). Students who drop, withdraw from, or fail COMM 493 may still be responsible for paying tuition. Address any tuition concerns to the bursar's office.
4. The internship course is only offered during the summer terms. COMM 493 is not offered in the spring or fall semesters.
5. If you are completing your summer internship as the final requirement for graduation, you will apply for August graduation but still be permitted to walk with your class for the May commencement program, both departmental and University-wide. The deadline to apply for AUGUST graduation is APRIL 1st.
6. To register for your summer COMM 493 credits, you will be provided a specific Course Record Number (CRN) assigned to the faculty member who is your faculty internship supervisor. You will use the CRN to register online through MYIUP. Registration for your summer internship must be completed by the pre-session summer add/drop period, typically the third day of pre-session classes in early May. Students who do not register online within this time, will have to do paperwork to complete a late add. The registration deadline is NOT based on the date you start your internship but is based on IUP's academic calendar.

7. Students cannot have more than 15 credits of internship and practicum combined (within or external to the major) within the 120 credits toward graduation; students may exceed 15 experiential credits if they go beyond the 120 graduation credit requirements.
8. The University requires all students be in good academic standing with a cumulative 2.0 GPA. If your GPA drops below a 2.0 after you have registered for COMM 493, you will be dropped from your internship and will have to complete COMM 493 in a future summer term. You will not be able to register for COMM 493 or any other course if you have holds on any type on your record.

Completing an Internship

1. Once the Internship application is electronically signed and submitted no changes are permitted. That is, there will be no changes made to the internship experience or site unless under extreme circumstances. Extreme circumstances would consist of a misrepresentation of internship duties on the part of the internship site or potential illegal or unethical behavior on the part of the internship site. If your internship is canceled by the site, for any reason, the internship coordinator or faculty supervisor will verify this.
2. You are responsible for maintaining regular communication with your faculty supervisor. Email is IUP's official communication system. You are required to check your email daily and respond promptly to communication from your faculty supervisor. Failure to do this may negatively impact your grade.
3. To be assigned a grade at the end of the summer term, the intern must log the required 360 work hours and meet all other internship requirements by the date identified by the faculty supervisor in the COMM 493 syllabus. Students whose work hours extend past the deadline for submission of grades will provide completed daily logs to the Faculty Supervisor prior to any grade being submitted. The intern will receive an "Incomplete" grade until all hours have been logged.
4. Interns who anticipate August graduation upon completion of their internship and whose hours will not be completed in time for submission of grades must communicate with the faculty supervisor to determine whether the student can still be eligible for August graduation. If hours cannot be completed in time for graduation clearance, students will be required to reapply for graduation in a future semester.
5. If you are dismissed from your internship, or your internship is terminated for ANY reason, you must notify your Faculty Supervisor within 24 hours of this action by phone and via IUP email. Your faculty supervisor will contact you to discuss and determine what happened and ascertain why the internship was terminated. He or she will also attempt to contact your internship site and discuss the situation. Call the Department of Communications Media main office (724-357-3210) if you are unable to reach your faculty supervisor. Understand that if you are terminated or quit your internship at a date past the financial withdrawal deadline, you will still be liable for your tuition payment. Consult the IUP Office of the Bursar for any questions about tuition responsibilities.

The following circumstances will apply to your grade and ability to complete COMM 493 depending on the situation:

Termination or dismissal without just cause: If your internship site terminates your internship for reasons not connected to your job performance or if you are fired for reasons your faculty supervisor determine were not for “just cause” (meaning it was no failure on your part) they will work with you as you attempt to find another internship where you can complete your required hours and COMM 493 assignments. That said, finding another affiliated and appropriate internship is ultimately your responsibility, and failure to do so in the time frame of the summer term, will result in an “L” grade and you will be required to complete the remaining requirements of COMM 493 in the future. The “L” grade will remain on your transcript until all the internship requirements have been met and you will not be able to graduate until the “L” is converted to a regular letter grade.

Termination or dismissal for just cause: If you are fired from your internship due to your failure to perform as assigned OR if you fail to notify your faculty supervisor of your termination within 24 hours of being discharged; you will be assigned an "F" grade for COMM 493 and no effort will be made to reassign you to another internship during the same summer. “Just cause” reasons for your dismissal would include (but are not be limited to) repeated absence from work, unacceptable performance of your assigned duties, lack of motivation, failure to follow instructions, dishonesty, sexual harassment, lack of civility or any violation of your COMM 493 ethics agreement.

Common questions about Affiliation Agreements

1. Why do we need Affiliation Agreements?

Agreements protect our students. Provisions in the agreement guarantee that the Civil Rights of our students are protected, that Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 and other applicable laws, as well as the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act are guaranteed. Without these guarantees, then our students are NOT protected.

2. What is an Affiliation Agreement?

It is a contract between IUP and an entity offering an IUP student an internship. It outlines duties and responsibilities of both the organization as well as the University as it pertains to hosting an IUP student as an intern.

Title IX – Sexual Harassment and Sexual Violence Policies

All students expecting to interact with any minors (individuals under the age of 18) while at their internship site are REQUIRED to complete a Title IX training session through IUP. If you are taking COMM 395 you will more than likely be able to complete this training during the completion of that course. Please review the pamphlet included as a preview for your own Title IX training.

1. Policy

Indiana University of Pennsylvania is committed to maintaining a learning and work environment that is free from sexual harassment and sexual violence. Sexual harassment and sexual violence are forms of sex discrimination prohibited under Titles IV and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. Acts of sexual harassment or sexual violence, including sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking, seriously undermine the atmosphere of trust and respect that is essential to a university community. Moreover, sexual harassment and sexual violence are legally prohibited and will not be tolerated. The purpose of this Policy is to define prohibited conduct and provide guidance on the procedures for addressing complaints involving sexual harassment or sexual violence, including sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking. Persons found to be in violation of this Policy will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including expulsion for students and termination for employees.

All students, managers, administrators, faculty, staff, vendors, and designated volunteers have a responsibility to adhere to the contents of this Policy. Employees of the university community are required to report complaints of sexual harassment and sexual violence promptly and in accordance with this Policy. Persons who have been victimized also have the option of reporting to the Office of Public Safety, Campus Securities Authorities, or the University Compliance Officer/Title IX Coordinator.

IUP prohibits retaliatory action against persons filing complaints of sexual harassment and sexual violence or any person cooperating in the investigation of such a charge, as a complainant, respondent, witness, or other participant. The university will not tolerate knowingly making false charges. Acts of retaliation or knowingly making false charges shall constitute misconduct subject to disciplinary action up to and including expulsion for students and termination for employees. As much as possible, consistent with the university's legal obligations related to federal and state regulations and to protect the rights and security of its employees and students, the university will respect the confidentiality of both the complainant and the accused, and only those persons who are necessary for the investigation and resolution of the complaint will be given information regarding the matter.

Questions about the policy should be referred to Ms. Valerie Mercado, Compliance Officer/Title IX Coordinator in the Office of Social Equity, B17 Delaney Hall, 724-357-3402.

What is Title IX?
Title IX is a federal law that comes from the Education Amendments of 1972. This aspect of the law specifically prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex. It sets forth the basic principle that students should be free to participate fully in their educational experiences regardless of their gender. Sexual harassment and sexual violence are experiences which violate the intent of Title IX.

IUP takes immediate and effective steps to end sexual harassment and sexual violence. Retaliation against individuals reporting sexual harassment and/or sexual violence will not be tolerated and will be addressed through the appropriate university process (University Police, Student Conduct, Human Resources).

Questions about IUP's Title IX policy and protocol can be directed to:

Ms. Valerie Mercado, compliance officer in the Office of Social Equity, at vmercado@iup.edu, 724-357-3402, B-17 Delaney Hall.

The U.S. Department of Education, OCR oversees Title IX compliance. Questions may be addressed to the Office for Civil Rights (OCR).

What is Sexual Harassment and Sexual Violence?

Protection of Minors

IUP is dedicated to preventing sexual abuse of children by mobilizing adults, families, and communities to take actions to protect children before they are harmed.

IUP joins the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) prevention initiative by complying with BOG Policy 2014-01: Protection of Minors, IUP's Protection of Minors Policy (December 31, 2014) and with the creation of Speaking Up to Keep Children Safe; IUP's protection of minors training module and

The purpose of IUP's policy is to promote the safety and security of children who participate in programs held on university property. This policy applies to all university-sponsored programs, regardless of location, and non-university-sponsored programs that occur on IUP property. IUP administrators, faculty, coaches, staff, students, contractors, and volunteers in university-sponsored programs must comply with the policy. IUP's policy can be viewed at: www.iup.edu/humanresources/policies/minors

Speaking Up to Keep Children Safe

Speaking Up to Keep Children Safe focuses on recognizing and responding when behaviors of concern involving minors are identified or reported. In a situation of suspected child abuse, all IUP administrators, faculty, coaches, staff, student workers, contractors, and volunteers are considered mandated reporters.

Child Abuse Is...

All sexual activity between an adult and a child is sexual abuse. Sexual abuse does not have to involve penetration, force, pain, or even touching. If an adult engages in any sexual behavior (looking, showing, or touching) with a child to meet the adult's interest or sexual needs, it is sexual abuse.

Sexual abuse between children is often defined as when there is a significant age difference (usually 3 or more years) between the children, or if the children are very different developmentally size-wise.

National Data: Child Sexual Abuse

- 1 in 4 women and 1 in 6 men report having been sexually abused as children.
- Approximately 10% of all children have experienced contact sexual abuse;
- Up to 50% of child sexual abuse cases are perpetrated by someone younger than 18 years old.

Who Sexually Abuses?

Recognizing Concerning Behavior

When observing behavior, consider the context of the behavior to assist you in identifying whether it is behavior of concern or not. Think about:

- Whose needs are being met?
- Do behaviors continue after clear limits have been set?
- Is parental authority being undermined?
- Is one child singled out?
- Can a child say “no” in this situation?

Behaviors of concern are sometimes not obvious ... you may be the identifier of signs of abuse displayed by the child or youth.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unexplained changes in routines and habits (eating/sleeping/hygiene) • Regressive behaviors (bed wetting) • Unexplained fears, mood swings 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sexualized behavior • Secrets • Leaves “clues” • Risky behavior (drug/alcohol use, violence)

Using the continuum of behavior on the next page, associate behaviors with a category/color and respond accordingly. GREEN behaviors are acceptable behaviors we want to reinforce. YELLOW behaviors are concerning and require action, usually a conversation, to stop the behavior and respond with reporting. RED behaviors are harmful to the child and require action to stop the behavior, reporting, and safety planning for the victim.

For more information on acceptable and unacceptable behaviors please visit the Speaking Up to Keep Children Safe website <http://www.iup.edu/social equity/keep-children-safe/resources/default.aspx> and review Training Curriculum for Minors located under Resources.

When to Report...

- A child and/or adult shows numerous and consistent warning signs of abuse or being at risk to abuse
- A child has stated that he or she is being abused by an adult
- A child has stated that another child has been engaging in sexually harmful behaviors with him/her
- A child states that he or she has sexually harmed another child
- An adult has stated that he or she has sexually abused a child
- An individual has become aware of child pornography online
- An adult is aware of another adult or child who is viewing child pornography
- WHENEVER YOU HAVE CONCERNS!

A Campus Security Authority, or CSA, is an “official of an institution who has significant responsibility for student and campus activities, including but not limited to, student housing, student discipline and campus student conduct proceedings. An official is defined as any person who has the authority and the duty to take action or respond to particular issue on behalf of the institution.”
